

Fred invited Mary & I to his cabin to try our hand at fishing while he did some work around the place. They had an increase in the ant population and he decided to do a bit of spraying while Mary and I caught all those big fish from the beautifully clear water in their lake at Cedar Creek, Ne. The water is supplied from springs. The lakes are also known as the 'Sand Pits'. Some are extremely deep. This was on August 16, 1999.

Well, you sure couldn't say Mary wasn't trying. Nice seat to fish from!

I had to test that comfortable rope hammock to make sure it was safe! It was. That photo above me is the view I had while lying in the hammock.

We didn't catch very many fish and those we did get were pretty small but it was an enjoyable time to spend with Fred. Besides, he needed someone to make sure he did his work properly didn't he?

Fred's Cabin, Cedar Creek